William Savage and James Jordan, of Fallsburg, Lawrence county, left this morning for Winfield, Kas., to look after a large estate that has been left them by the death of their uncle James Jordan Sr.—Cattlettsburg Press.

Mrs. G. B. Gray returned Wednesday evening from a visit to her brother, J. C. Butler, at Cattlettsburg. He is in poor health. His wife is at Thacker, W. Va., very ill with typhoid fever. Articles of incorporation are being prepared at Lexington for a new oil company which will operate in the fields of eastern Kentucky and will be filed in a few days. The company has leased about 1,600 acres of land and will begin operation at once.

The exact location of the property is not made public as yet.

Eastern Kentucky is "on the map" as an oil field, and results have already been attained which show this to be a rich territory.

Major Craighill, who has charge of some of the dams on the upper Ohio, will visit Louisa within a few days to take a look at our dam. He is in command of some of the United States forces in China during the trouble there. His father who is now on the retired list, was formerly Chief of Engineers of the United States. Most of our people will remember that he presided at the meeting held in court house at Louisa several years ago to hear the controversy as to whether this dam should be a stationary or a movable dam.

Mr. J. P. McCloskey the popular and efficient manager of the Triple State Natural Gas Company's office at Cattlettsburg has resigned his position in order to devote his entire time to the manufacture of his new gas stove, "The Wilson," that is having such a run just now. We bespeak for Mr. McCloskey much success in his new undertaking. Mr. Tom Cooley the efficient assistant in the local gas office has accepted a position with the J. W. Mahan Lumber Co. Mr. Stewart will succeed Mr. McCloskey in the gas office.—Cattlettsburg Press.

The Kentucky delegation in Congress has settled upon Representative Kehoe, of Maysville, for the place on the River and Harbor Committee, left vacant by the retirement of Representative Berry of Kentucky.

Representative Kehoe and White of Kentucky had a conference with Representative Richardson in relation to committee places Saturday.

C. C. Wilson, of Greenup, Ky., who is a candidate for a minority position under the House, seems likely to win out.

Ed S. Hughes, who for several years has been traveling for Biggs, Watts & Company, has tendered his resignation to take effect on February first. It is not known definitely but it is rumored that Mr. Hughes will take a position with Huntington's new wholesale shoe house. Probably no traveling man in the country is better known than Ed Hughes, and it is certain that none are more popular. He always has a good trade and the firm that is fortunate enough to secure his services can rest assured that his territory will be well looked after.—Huntington Advertiser.

Frank H. Marcum, Private Secretary to Congressman James A. Hughes, is an affable young man and by his courteous treatment to all is winning many friends. Young Marcum is the son of Judge Marcum, of Ceredo, and is one of Wayne's brightest young men. He will accompany Congressman Hughes to Washington soon, and it is safe to say that no Private Secretary to any Congressman in that city will make more friends than he. His acquaintances in West Virginia's second city wish him well.—Huntington Advertiser.

Frank was formerly a Louisa boy.

A Pleasant Affair.

One of the most enjoyable events of Thanksgiving week was the entertainment given Thursday night by Mrs. Ben Thomas in honor of her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lebley, of Kenova. The affair took the form of a card party, and the game was progressive High Fives. The beautiful rooms of the Thomas residence were ablaze with color and light, and four tables were occupied by the eager contestants. About eleven o'clock most exquisite refreshments were served, and when we say that Mrs. Thomas fully sustained her enviable reputation as host in this particular—and in all others as well—those who know her will not dispute that repeat was of a high order.

After the refreshments had been enjoyed each guest was furnished with a penny, a pencil and a list of questions, the answers to which, figuratively and otherwise, could be found on the penny. One half hour was the time allowed for the study of the queries, and then the papers were called in and examined by the hostess. Mrs. M. G. Watson had given correct answers to all the questions, and Dr. Watson, Mr. Alexander Lackey and Mr. Frank Hammond had each answered them correctly. To Mrs. Watson was awarded a dainty bit of Wedgewood, and the successful gentlemen drew lots for a handsome smoking set. Frank Hammond, who doesn't smoke, drew the prize. At an early hour Friday morning the well-pleased guests made their adieux.

The only regret of the evening was caused by the unavoidable absence of Mr. B. F. Thomas. As engineer of the Little Kanawha river he was compelled to be in Charleston, W. Va.

Those present besides the guests of honor were:

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gunnell, Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Watson, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Wooten, Miss Reba Lackey, and Messrs. George Fairfax, Gunnell, Harry Corns and Frank Hammond.

For Big Sandy Improvement.

Congressman James A. Hughes was interviewed by the Huntington Herald before leaving for Washington last week. The following reference to Big Sandy river will be of interest to our readers:

"Another matter to my mind which is of incalculable interest to the people, not only of Huntington and Cabell county, but to my entire district (meaning the new Fifth) are the improvements of its water ways. The possibilities of the Guyandotte and Big Sandy rivers as ways of commerce can scarcely be estimated, though the importance of this matter is becoming more apparent daily. It is well known that nature's great thoroughfares, when thus improved, afford the cheapest transportation, and thus not only may there be a constant means of transport, but they become the only absolute means of guarding the public against extortionate rates by the great railroad corporations of the country. Nothing can possibly add to the enterprise and industry of the Southern section of the state so much as will slack water on these rivers. Men of capital are not so anxious to place money in large mining and lumbering industries, where they are left to the mercy of railroad transportation, without competition. With slack water transportation they have assurance of fair rates and it is when this safeguard exists that these industries are established. With the improvement of these rivers hundreds of thousands of acres of our coal and timber lands will be developed, and such prosperity as the South Western portion of the State will enjoy has never yet been dreamed of by the great mass of our people."

A Death From Diphtheria.

John Ratcliff, little son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Billups, died Tuesday morning at five o'clock, of diphtheria. He was thought to be considerably better until a few minutes before his death, when evidence of heart failure was discovered. This is said to be the result that often follows diphtheria, after the disease itself has apparently been arrested.

The body was removed to the home of H. E. Ferguson, and the funeral services were held there the next day by Rev. J. M. Boland. The burial took place in Pine Hill cemetery.

This was a bright and handsome little boy, three years of age. Much sympathy is expressed for the family by the people of the community. The fear of this dreadful and contagious disease kept the public in general from visiting the house, but their sympathy is none the less sincere.

JAKE PATRICK

Gets in a Good One on Congressman Bailey, of Texas.

One evening some time ago there was an impromptu gathering of story tellers in the rotunda of the Phoenix Hotel, including Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas; ex-Gov. James B. McCreary, of Madison county, and Jacob B. Patrick, of Salyersville, a well-known mountain Republican. Gov. McCreary several times addressed Mr. Patrick at "Judge," to which the latter finally replied:

"Governor, I am not a Judge, and never was; and more than that, I have no title, military, judicial or professional. I am plain Jake Patrick, the only strictly private citizen in the entire Commonwealth of Kentucky. I am not even 'Mister'."

"Well, sir," spoke up the Texas statesman, "you are unique; I should think you ought to be at least a 'Colonel,' as I have always understood that in Kentucky it is the easiest and the cheapest thing in the world to be a 'Colonel.'"

"There is something in that," was Patrick's quick response; "it is almost as easy and cheap to be a 'Colonel' in Kentucky as to be a Congressman in Texas."

The laugh was on Bailey and he squared the matter by asking the crowd to refresh itself at his expense.—Lexington Leader.

A Special Sermon.

We call special attention to the following preamble and resolutions of the Board of Stewards of the M. E. Church, South, viz:

Whereas we paid in full the salary of our pastor last year, and propose to do the same this year; and whereas a good financial system enables any church to meet its financial obligations with ease:

Therefore, Resolved, first, that Dr. Boland be, and is hereby, requested to give an exposition of St. Paul's financial system recorded in his epistle to the Corinthians (I Cor. XVI 1, 2; II Cor. VIII 1, 2).

Resolved, second, that the time fixed for this sermon be Sunday, Dec. 8, at 7 p. m.; that every member of this church be earnestly requested to be present, and that members of other churches, as well as the entire community be cordially invited to attend.

A WOMAN'S AWFUL PERIL.

"There is only one chance to save your life and that is through an operation," were the sterling words, heard by Mrs. I. B. Hunt of Lime Ridge, Wis., from her doctor after he had vainly tried to cure her of a severe case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Gall stones had formed and she constantly grew worse. Then she began to use Electric Bitters, which wholly cured her. It's a wonderful stomach, liver and kidney remedy. Cures dyspepsia, loss of appetite. Try it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50c, sold at Hughes drug store.

Mrs. J. W. M. Stewart is the guest of Louisa relatives.

THE PEOPLE KNEW HIM.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)

George Washington made and sold flour, and every barrel of flour in the market branded "G. Washington, Mount Vernon," sold without delay. No question was ever raised as to quality or weight.

Benson's Plaster is sold on its reputation everywhere. All the buyer wants to be certain of is that the plaster offered is really Benson's, and not a worthless imitation of it or substitute for it.

A plaster is the best form of external remedy, and Benson's is the best plaster. 5,000 physicians and druggists, and a multitude of people no man can number, have settled that "You can trust it," they say.

Coughs, colds, lame back, lumbago, neuralgia, stiffness and rheumatism, troubles of the liver and kidneys, influenza or grip, pneumonia, and all other diseases open to external treatment, are of once relieved and cured by Benson's Plaster.

Do not assume that Belladonna, Capsicum or Strengthening plasters are "just as good as" Benson's. They are vastly inferior. No other plaster is as good as Benson's.

In competition with the best-known plasters of Europe and America, Benson's have received fifty-five highest awards.

For sale by all druggists or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States, on receipt of 50c, each.

Benson & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N. Y.
